Coforge and Solstice Innovations Partner to Redefine P&C Insurance Modernization Through Agentic AI

Greater Noida, India / Princeton, NJ, USA – April 2, 2026 – Coforge, a global AI-native engineering services leader announced a strategic partnership with Solstice Innovations, Inc. to accelerate agentic AI-led adoption of modern core insurance technology for P&C insurers. Under the agreement, Coforge will establish a dedicated Center of Excellence (CoE) powered by its Forge-X AI platform, enabling faster, more intelligent client onboarding, system integration, migration, quality engineering, and business process transformation for Solstice and its customers.

The Coforge–Solstice partnership brings together two AI-native capabilities that in combination will redefine P&C insurance modernization through agentic AI. Solstice's agentic Equinox™ platform defines the destination as a modern, intelligent core system that transforms how insurers operate, leverage, interface with and pay for their technology products. Coforge Forge-X defines the journey of an AI-driven delivery engine that gets insurers there faster and with greater confidence. Together, they create an end-to-end modernization proposition that is both technically differentiated and commercially compelling for P&C insurers across multiple lines of business. Coforge Forge-X will serve as the primary accelerator for moving Solstice's prospective and existing clients from legacy environments onto the Equinox platform with greater speed, lower risk, and measurably reduced implementation cost.

"The partnership between Coforge and Solstice marks a defining moment for P&C insurance modernization. By combining the agentic AI power of Equinox with our Forge-X platform, we are fundamentally changing the economics and speed of core system transformation" said Rajeev Batra, Global Insurance Practice Head, Coforge.

"Combining Equinox's modern AI-leveraged architectural capabilities and Coforge's Forge-X platform, we are offering insurers something the market has never seen before: a truly end-to-end intelligent modernization experience." Travis Pine, Co-Founder and CEO, Solstice Innovations.
