

Following a series of strategic technological milestones, Accedere Limited (BSE: 531533) has officially approved allotment for its 1:10 bonus share issue. This corporate action comes on the heels of an exceptional fiscal performance driven largely by its subsidiary, Freebird Aerospace.

The market's enthusiastic response to the NanoBee and NanoWasp drone launches has provided a significant boost to investor confidence. Since their introduction, these products have dominated the "Nano" category (under 250g), offering professional-grade 4K imaging and AI-integrated flight stability without the need for a traditional pilot license.

"The bonus issue is a testament to our robust growth trajectory. With Freebird Aerospace leading the charge in tactical and consumer UAV technology, we are capitalizing on our reserves to enhance share liquidity and reward our long-term partners," stated the Board of Directors.
