Niti pitches for reforms to boost jewellery exports

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, April 20

CHANGING PREFERENCES

■ Globally, the gems and jewellery market (excluding raw gold) stood at about $378 bn in 2024

■ India's exports, at $29.5 bn, account for 7.8% of this market

■ In global market, the traditional segments have seen declining shares over the past decade

■ Areas such as platinum, silver, and recycled precious metals are expanding

The report called for a sharper focus on value addition and design-led manufacturing

GIVEN INDIA'S LONG-standing strength in diamonds and gold jewellery gives it a natural edge, a Niti Aayog report has urged value addition, design-led manufacturing, cluster use, branding, consistency exports in free trade agreements (FTAs), finance access and interest support to make India a global hub.

Globally, the gems and jewellery market (excluding raw gold) stood at about $378 billion in 2024. India's exports, at $29.5 billion, account for 7.8% of this market. A bulk of this comes from precious metal jewellery and unmounted diamonds, where India has built strong capabilities over decades. Together, these segments dominate global demand and form the backbone of India's export basket. However, beyond these categories, India's presence drops sharply, pointing to a narrow export base and overdependence on a few product lines.

Domestically, the sector plays a significant economic role, contributing around 2.2% to manufacturing output and roughly 7% to GDP, while employing nearly five million people. At the same time, it is heavily import-dependent, particularly for gold, which continues to dominate inbound shipments. On the export side, markets are concentrated, with the US, the UAE, and Hong Kong accounting for a large share, leaving the sector exposed to external shocks.

Limited access to affordable credit, patchy data on value addition and employment, and relatively weak capabilities in designing low-carat and contemporary jewellery have held back diversification, Niti Aayog said in its latest Trade Watch report. "With global demand shifting towards design-led, lightweight, and high-value segments, aligning the sector with evolving market trends, improving cost competitiveness, and strengthening institutional support will be critical for India to enhance its global market share and move up the value chain," it said.

The global market is evolving as traditional segments have either stagnated or seen declining shares over the past decade, while areas such as platinum, silver, and recycled precious metals are expanding. "Interestingly, the leading exporters globally, such as Switzerland and Hong Kong, do not necessarily possess the raw materials required in the sector but have conducive policies related to financial trading, refining capabilities, and market access that have worked favourably over the years in strengthening their positions," the think tank said.

The report called for a sharper focus on value addition and design-led manufacturing. It recommends better utilisation of specialised clusters, targeted branding — including promotion of GI-tagged products — and the inclusion of consignment exports under free trade agreements. Improving access to finance through credit guarantees and interest support, alongside stronger data systems, is also seen as critical.

Govt allows additional 2.5 MT wheat exports

SANDIP DAS
New Delhi, April 20

AFTER LIFTING THE over four-year ban on exports, the government has approved an additional 2.5 MT of wheat exports, a move, the Ministry of Food Processing Industries said on Monday, would stabilise prices and prevent distress sale of the crop.

The decision to allow additional quota for exports follows a comprehensive review of current production, stock availability, and price trends, according to the statement. With the latest round of approvals, 5 MT of wheat and 1 MT of wheat products have now been permitted to be exported after a ban on shipment was lifted in February.

This, according to the ministry, is expected to enhance market liquidity, facilitate efficient stock management, and prevent distress sales during the peak arrival season.

"It will also help stabilise domestic prices and strengthen farmers' incomes, while ensuring that the country's food security remains fully safeguarded," it stated. With the prospects of record harvest, the wheat procurements for the 2026-27 marketing season (April-June) has picked up pace across key producing states.

Potato glut crashes prices; Centre to intervene

SANDIP DAS
New Delhi, April 20

THE GOVERNMENT HAS announced a market intervention programme after potato prices crashed due to a surge in supplies, driven by robust harvest prospects in key producing states—Uttar Pradesh and West Bengal—trade sources said.

The average all-India wholesale price of the crop, according to the Department of Consumer Affairs, declined to ₹1,417 per quintal on Sunday, a fall of 22% year-on-year. The average retail price of potatoes has dropped to ₹20.21 per kg, down 17% year-on-year. In Delhi and adjoining areas, retail potato prices are currently ruling at ₹10-20 per kg.

While harvested potatoes have been stored in cold storage and will be released in a calibrated manner until the new crop arrives next year, the surplus harvest entering the market has pushed prices down.

Traders in Agra, the country's hub of potato trade, said the government's move to procure 2 million tonnes (MT) of potatoes at ₹650 per quintal may not attract much interest from farmers, as the offered price is still lower than the current market price of ₹900-1,000 per quintal.

"This timely measure will empower potato-growing farmers in Uttar Pradesh by securing them profitable returns on their investment and produce, while preventing forced sales at suboptimal prices amid market fluctuations," according to an agriculture ministry statement.

"Only at a few pockets of the Mathura belt of Uttar Pradesh, the government may get potatoes at prices in the range of ₹600-₹700/quintal, while in the Agra belt, prices are ruling higher, yet below the last year's prices because of higher production," Shyam Bahadur Chauhan, owner of JR cold storage in the Agra region, told FE. Chauhan said farmers usually incur a cost of ₹260 per quintal for storing potatoes in cold storage for around 10 months starting in March.

Potatoes are typically stored in cold storages after harvesting in February and meet domestic demand until November. Traders said that this year, stocks remained in cold storage until January, resulting in an oversupply in the market.

The agriculture ministry has projected potato production at 58.57 MT for the 2024-25 crop year (July-June), an increase of 2.66% year-on-year. Retail inflation in potatoes declined by 18.98% in March 2026, compared to the same month last year, according to the Ministry of Statistics and Programme Implementation.
