About Monolithisch India Limited

Monolithisch India Limited is a specialised refractory solutions company focused on ramming mass, a critical consumable used in induction furnaces for steel manufacturing. Backed by manufacturing scale, technical expertise and proximity to key steel-producing clusters, the Company is building a differentiated platform focused on quality, reliability, premiumisation and sustainable growth. With an installed production capacity of approximately 576,000 MTPA across its manufacturing footprint in Purulia and Sarbari, West Bengal, and Ranchi, Jharkhand, the Company is expanding into Western and Southern India through new facilities in Udaipur, Rajasthan, and near Hospet, Karnataka. Together, these facilities will add 300,000 MTPA (in July 2027), taking the Company's total production capacity to approximately 875,000 MTPA.
